

Dr. Annette Langlois, District 5: Bio

Dr. Annette Langlois has been a lifelong chiropractic patient and a licensed chiropractor for nearly 38 years, with 28 of those years also including specializing in animal chiropractic in private practice. Throughout her career, she has been rooted in District 5, residing just outside Paris, Ontario.

Her dedication to advancing animal chiropractic led her to co-found the Veterinary Chiropractic Learning Centre in 2005 – the only AVCA-approved animal chiropractic program in Canada. As co-director of the program, she brings over 20 years of experience in both the administrative leadership and teaching within the field.

Beyond her clinical and educational work, Dr. Langlois has contributed as a content advisor to the College of Chiropractors of Ontario (CCO) and the Ontario Chiropractic Association (OCA), providing expertise in the development and application of standard S-009; Chiropractic Care of Animals.

She is committed to protecting the public interest, supporting public awareness of chiropractic care, and ensuring access to competent chiropractic services in both human and animal sectors.

Dr. Langlois understands the importance of transparent and effective regulation in maintaining public trust and professional integrity. She is dedicated to upholding high standards of practice, ethical care, and accountability within the profession.

With a passion for the continued advancement of chiropractic care, she is a strong proponent of peer assessment practices, continuing education requirements and collaborative engagement with members to ensure regulatory decisions reflect the realities of chiropractic practice.
