Dr. Annette Langlois, Paris, Ontario

District 5

I received my first chiropractic adjustment as a one-year-old, and that experience set the foundation for my lifelong commitment to chiropractic care. Over the years, my passion for learning and helping others led me to deepen my focus on chiropractic, particularly animal chiropractic, ultimately driving me to launch the only AVCA (American Veterinary Chiropractic Association) approved animal chiropractic program in Canada in 2005. As co-director of this pioneering program, I've had the privilege of shaping the future of animal chiropractic education, which remains my passion today.

My commitment to delivering excellence in chiropractic care spans both human and animal sectors, and I firmly believe in the profound impact this practice can have on improving lives. As a candidate for a position on the CCO Council, my goal is to further elevate the public's awareness and understanding of chiropractic care, ensuring that both human and animal patients receive the highest standard of care. I am dedicated to reinforcing the profession's integrity and holding it to the highest possible standards, always with the best interests of the public in mind.

I ask for your support in this important endeavor to continue advancing our profession and promoting the exceptional work chiropractors do every day on our 2-legged and 4-legged patients. Let's work together to raise the bar for chiropractic care in all aspects. Thank you!
